

Coy Patrick Campbell

October 12, 1979 - January 16, 2024

Coy Patrick Campbell was born October 12, 1979, in Mt Shasta, CA. He passed away peacefully on January 16, 2024. He was raised in Weed, CA, and was so proud of his hometown. He attended Weed Schools until he graduated from Weed High School in 1997. Coy loved playing football and often told stories of his “glory days.” He made lots of memories getting into as much trouble as possible with his buddies, whether they were skipping school to hunt or fish, or finding a place to have some fun! He was a much better friend than he was a student, but he did enjoy his welding and shop classes tremendously.

After high school, Coy spent time working in the construction industry, spending several years working for Ray Toney & Associates welding and operating in the North State. In 2005 he was hired as an apprentice lineman for PG&E in the Red Bluff area, where he would spend the rest of his working days. He absolutely loved the thrill and challenge that came with line work; taking pride in a career he adored and excelled at!

In 2005, Coy met his future wife, Jessica Jorgensen. They got married in 2009 and enjoyed hunting, camping, traveling, watching crime shows, football, and NASCAR together. They welcomed their son Clayton in December of 2013. Clayton quickly became Coy’s world.

He was overjoyed to have a son and looked forward to doing many things with him.

In October 2016, Coy was in an accident that would alter the entire course of his life. Most of life became impossible for Coy to do on his own, but he was grateful to be able to spend another 7 years watching his son grow, enjoying annual camping trips, and continuing to enjoy watching his shows, football with his wife, and his favorite, NASCAR.

Coy was preceded in death by grandparents Jack & Irene Campbell, and Coy James, so much-loved dogs, along with many other relatives and friends.

Coy is survived by his wife Jessica and son Clayton; mother Bonnie (Pat) Kelly, father Pat and stepmom Maureen Campbell, grandmother Betty James, sisters Amy Campbell and Amber (Mark) Silva, and his stepbrothers Adam (Melanie) and Kevin (Linda) Ottinger. He will also be deeply missed by his in-laws Fred & Toni Jorgensen, sisters-in-law Megan & Sean Farley, and Erika & Taylor Brown. Coy also leaves behind numerous cousins, nieces, nephews, bonus family, and countless friends.

Coy will be laid to rest on Friday, January 26, 2024, next to his Campbell grandparents in Gazelle, CA.

“ I've known Coy all my life. Bonnie used to babysit my brother and I when Coy and I were 3/4 or so. My favorite memory is of Coy teaching me if you put your ear on a train track you could hear if there was a train coming when there was no sight or sound of one. It's been fun to have have kept in contact all these years. You have been an inspiration these last several years with all your positivity despite the circumstances. Big love to you my friend. Prayers to all the family.

“ Coy was one of the first people to talk to me and be a friend when I moved to Weed at the age of 10. We continues to be friends through high school til we graduated in 97. Kept in touch here and there as we started our own families. We got into our fair share of trouble growing up and git away with much more. I will never forget what a great friend he was. My condolences to the family, until we see one another again my brother from another mother. Much love and respect for this man.
